Independent Auditors' Report

To the Board of Directors
Building Lives Foundation, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of Building Lives Foundation, Inc. (a nonprofit organization) as of June 30, 2012, and the related statements of activities, functional expenses and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Organization's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Building Lives Foundation, Inc. as of June 30, 2012, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Notes to Financial Statements

June 30, 2012

(1) Organization and Purpose:

Organized in 2006, Building Lives Foundation, Inc. (the Foundation/BLF) is a not-for-profit corporation committed to assisting veterans, primarily in Middle Tennessee by providing one-on-one mentoring, health and psychological care referrals, employment transportation, housing and financial education. The singular goal is to support and transition each veteran/client to become a productive member of the community.

The Foundation program includes five major components, which working together, build a solid foundation upon which a fulfilling life can be structured, as follows: (1) Job Assistance, (2) Affordable Housing, (3) Apartment Furnishings, (4) Vehicle Program and (5) Guidance. Additionally, services are offered by the Foundation through a program known as "The Academy" which provides basic needs, housing, meals, transportation, etc. for the participants while taking part in a work-therapy program during a transition period.

(2) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies:

Financial Statement Presentation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles as established by the FASB Accounting Standards Codification. BLF is required to report information regarding its financial position and activities according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted net assets, temporarily restricted net assets and permanently restricted net assets based upon the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions. BLF's ordinary practice is to report revenues and support whose restrictions are met in the same period as unrestricted revenue and support. Contributions received are recorded as unrestricted, temporarily restricted or permanently restricted support, depending on the existence and/or nature of any donor restrictions, and are recorded as described below:

Unrestricted net assets - Net assets that are not subject to donor-imposed stipulations.

Temporarily restricted net assets - Net assets that are subject to donor-imposed stipulations that may or will be met, either by actions of the Organization and/or the passage of time. When a restriction expires, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions. Restrictions that are fulfilled in the same accounting period in which the contributions are received are reported in the statement of activities as unrestricted.

Permanently restricted net assets - Net assets that are subject to donor-imposed stipulations that are to be maintained permanently by the Organization. Generally, the donors of these assets permit the Organization to use all or part of the income earned and any related investments for general or specific purposes. As of June 30, 2012, the Foundation did not have any permanently restricted net assets.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

(2) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued:

Functional Allocation of Expenses

The costs of providing the various programs and other activities have been summarized on a functional basis in the statement of activities. Accordingly, costs have been allocated among the programs and supporting services benefitted.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue and support are generally recognized as income during the fiscal year in which they are earned or contributed. Contributions received are recorded as unrestricted, temporarily restricted or permanently restricted revenues depending on the existence and/or nature of any donor restrictions. All donor-restricted contributions are reported as an increase in temporarily restricted or permanently restricted net assets, depending on the nature of the restriction. When a restriction expires (that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished), temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the Statement of Activities as net assets released from restrictions.

Gifts-in-kind contributions consist of donated vehicles and other noncash contributions received from donors supporting the fundraising activities. These types of contributions are recorded based on their estimated fair value at the date of the contribution. Fundraising primarily consists of an annual benefit concert and a holiday product warehouse sale. Both events are organized by the Foundation. The portion of benefit concert ticket sales that represents fair value is recorded as fundraising income and the excess is classified as donations on the statement of activities.

Grants and bequests may require the fulfillment of certain conditions as set forth in the grant or bequest documents. Failure to fulfill any such conditions could result in the return of the funds to the grantors. Although such a circumstance is a possibility, management deems the contingency remote because the Organization has historically complied with donor provisions. By accepting the gifts and their terms, the Organization has demonstrated its intent and its policy to accommodate the provisions of the gifts and to coordinate them with the objectives of the Organization.

Income Tax Status

The Internal Revenue Service has granted the Foundation exempt status under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). Accordingly, no provision for income taxes has been made in the accompanying financial statements.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less are considered to be cash equivalents.

Accounts Receivable, Grants Receivable and Notes Receivable

Accounts receivable consist mostly of (1) third party billings to customers for work performed by participants in the work-therapy program and (2) billings to vehicle program participants of car repair and maintenance costs incurred.

Grants receivable consist of awards from 2 grants to be used (1) to support salaries of the veteran's program/case manager and its on-site house manager and (2) to improve the health and employment of the veterans in its program by helping them achieve self-sufficiency, consistent employment, financial management skills, permanent housing and citizenship skills.

Notes receivable consist of amounts due on sales of vehicles to present or past program participants. Vehicles are financed to veterans by short-term and long-term unsecured, non-interest bearing notes receivable. Notes receivable are reported using the interest method and discounted using an estimated market value interest rate as of the original date of the note. The appropriate amount of interest income is recognized over the life of the note through amortization of the discount. The Foundation periodically reviews all delinquent accounts and charges off accounts after collection efforts are exhausted.

The Foundation periodically reviews all delinquent receivables and charges off accounts, grants and notes after collection efforts are exhausted. The allowance for doubtful accounts receivable represents an amount which, in management's judgment, reflects the net collectible balance of the accounts receivable. In determining the adequacy of the allowance, management considers general economic conditions, the client's and grantor's financial ability, the age of the receivable, and any potential collateral.

Inventory

The Foundation's inventory, which consists of vehicles, is valued at the lower of cost or market if purchased with Foundation funds. Inventory donated to the Foundation is recorded at estimated market value on the date of receipt. Cost of sales is based on the specific identification method. The Foundation did not have any inventory on hand as of June 30, 2012.

Property and Equipment

Purchased property and equipment are carried at cost. Donated equipment is recorded at market value at the date of donation. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets, generally three to ten years. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred; expenditures for improvements, renewals and extraordinary repairs that extend the useful life of an asset are capitalized.

Compensated Absences

Employees of BLF are entitled to paid vacation, paid sick days and personal days off, depending on job classification, length of service, and other factors. It is impracticable to estimate the amount of compensation for future absences, and, accordingly, no liability has been recorded in the accompanying financial statements. BLF's policy is to recognize the cost of compensated absences when actually paid to employees.

Advertising Costs

The Foundation expenses all advertising costs as they are incurred.

(2) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued:

Fair Values

The Foundation has an established process for determining fair values. Fair value is based upon quoted market prices, where available. If listed prices or quotes are not available, fair value is based upon internally developed models or processes that use primarily market-based or independently-sourced market data, including interest rate yield curves, option volatilities and third party information. Valuation adjustments may be made to ensure that financial instruments are recorded at fair value. Furthermore, while the Foundation believes its valuation methods are appropriate and consistent with other market participants, the use of different methodologies, or assumption, to determine the fair value of certain financial instruments could result in a different estimate of fair value at the reporting date. Generally accepted accounting principles have a three-level valuation hierarchy for fair value measurement. An asset or liability measured at fair value is categorized within the valuation hierarchy based upon the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

The three levels are:

Level 1 - inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical or very similar assets or liabilities in active markets.

Level 2 - inputs to the valuation methodology include quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets, and inputs that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly, for substantially the full term of the financial instrument.

Level 3 - inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement.

(3) Property and Equipment, Net:

Detail of property and equipment, net at June 30, 2012 are as follows:

Property and equipment	$ 10,130
Less accumulated depreciation	(680)
Net	$ 9,450

(4) Notes Receivable

The Foundation has eight (8) unsecured notes receivable related to the sale of vehicles. The terms of the notes are eighteen months or less. The Foundation has estimated 6% as the discount rate to use related to these short term notes receivable. Notes receivable net of discount and allowance are as follows at June 30, 2012:

Gross notes receivable	$ 7,792
Less:
Discount on notes receivable	(264)
Allowance for doubtful accounts	(2,792)
Notes receivable, net	$ 4,736

BUILDING LIVES FOUNDATION, INC.

Notes to Financial Statements, Continued

June 30, 2012

(5) Intentions to Give

As of June 30, 2012, the Foundation had no unfulfilled pledges from contributors. Such pledges are considered intentions to give, and since they are not considered unconditional promises to give, they are not recognized until collected.

(6) Donated Services

Officers, members of the Board of Directors, and other volunteers of the Foundation have assisted the Foundation in the accomplishment of its goals and objectives by the donation of their time and services. No amounts have been reflected in the financial statements as it was not practicable to determine the valuation of such services to the Foundation, and the Foundation exercises no significant control over the major elements of donated services.

(7) Fund-raising Events

During the year ended June 30, 2012, BLF sponsored two fund-raising events as sources of additional revenue and greater public awareness. A Christmas "warehouse sale" produced revenues of approximately $72,000 from this event. BLF plans to continue this event as its primary fund-raising event.

(8) Leases

The Foundation has entered into six month leases to provide a number of veterans with housing. The veterans are required to reimburse the Foundation monthly. Leases are cancelable if a client moves out. As of June 30, 2012, there were no leases to which the Foundation was liable for payment of rents.

(9) Fair Value Measurement

Financial instruments carried at fair value as of June 30, 2012 as assets on the statement of financial position consist of potentially impaired loans, totaling $4,736. Total carrying value of such loans was determined using Level 3 of the valuation hierarchy (see Note 2) and are subject to measurement on a non-recurring basis. There were no related liabilities.

(10) Concentrations and Related Parties

BLF maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts at a local branch of a well known financial institution with operations in markets throughout the Southeastern region of the United States. The balances, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. BLF has not experienced any losses in such accounts. BLF believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash and cash equivalents. The Chairman of BLF's Board is also the President and CEO of this bank.

BLF receives a significant amount of its support from the community, corporations, organizations and individuals. Any significant reduction in the level of this support, if this were to occur, could have an adverse effect on its programs and activities. However, based on the current year operations, management expects appropriate levels of support for its mission to continue for the fiscal year ended June 20, 2013.

(11) Subsequent Events

Management has evaluated subsequent events through November 8, 2012, the date on which the financial statements were available to be issued.
